Energy, Resources and Utilities

As demand for petroleum and petroleum products plummeted, oil and gas companies are on the verge of reinventing into socially responsible, sustainable, renewable energy companies. As they expand their portfolio into clean energy space, and commit to net-zero carbon footprint, investors and shareholders have put immense pressure on these companies to provide transparency in achieving net-zero carbon goal over a 10 to 20 year time horizon. This need has caused several oil majors to aggregate thruput and financial performance across generation, trading, customers classification. Zeus Solutions helps oil and gas clients bring disparate data residing across several ERPs, Production, Trading and Manufacturing systems into a single consolidated reportable environment to instill confidence and transparency in investors and stockholders.

Zeus Solutions help Commodities Trading firms with implementation of Trading and Risk Management systems to manage all processes of daily life of a deal and support deliver key critical daily operational reports and KPIs including financial Risk Management metrics leading up to reconciliation of Trade Books to financials. To facilitate cross-commodity exposure and P&L reporting, Zeus is helping Trading clients build a modern digital platform that liberates financial analysts and data scientists from being IT dependent to exploiting unlimited potential of cloud capacity to perform trading forensics, generate trading insights and find market opportunities and risks.

Healthcare and Biotechnology

Research and development in biotech and healthcare have increased the dependency on extensive use of big data that is generated by various research and instrumentation tools, and data available from public and private sources. Effective integration of this data to help develop machine learning techniques and artificial intelligence allow companies predict patterns and create meaningful insights. Companies leverage cloud platforms to scale exponentially to generate insights from global resources that would otherwise take decades to produce outcomes with the complex genetic patterns.

Whether it be human genome or plant genome, Zeus Solutions team helps data scientists develop solutions leading drug discovery, drug recycling, drug safety, functional and structural genomics, proteomics, pharmacogenetics, and pharmacogenomics, among others. Our consultants help accelerate R&D and decision making by aggregating large volumes of test data into consumable information. Data mining from test results are used to identify drug targets, drug adherence, understanding disease mechanisms, process optimization etc.

Finance and Wealth Management

Data is growing at an exponential rate, whether fostered by social media or by devices with built-in chips, big data has become the crux to data-driven insights, decision-making and value generation for many businesses. Companies have witnessed value creation unlike anytime before and compete to make continuous advancements to differentiate from their competitors. Companies leveraging the power of cloud to harness exponential scale and unlimited processing capacity, successfully emerge, reinvent and soar in value creation.

Whether it be modernization of current infrastructure, migrating to new cloud platforms, or developing a data foundation, Zeus Solutions helps clients thrive in their digital platform strategy to achieve their goals faster.

Telecom

The telecom sector is one of the most disrupted fields in modern digitalization and is struggling to keep up with the growing demands of data across every connected device, IoT, video streaming, private and social data among others. Despite the rapid growth in 5G networks and satellite technologies, the need for automation, machine learning and artificial intelligence to increase efficiency and predict consumer behaviors is putting added pressure on Telecom companies. Communication and transmission of information across the networks, data centers and cloud platforms is crucial, more than ever before, all done safely, securely and within the confines of social, government and regulatory framework. Companies are expected to deliver affordable, cost-effective, low maintenance end-use solutions in an extensively competitive global environment.

Zeus Solutions team offers its clients with competency and technical capabilities to deliver a world-class solution, develop insights, boast obvious business value quickly by leveraging blockchain technology, integrating information, streamline business processes and protect personal data and competitively sensitive business data.
